This TMD should be read in conjunction with the Target Market Determination Definitions document. For the avoidance of doubt, this document forms a part of this TMD.

This document is not a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) and is not a summary of the product features or terms of the product. This document does not take into account any person's individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Appropriateness

CFSIL has assessed the product and formed the view that the product, including its key attributes, is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of consumers in the target market, as the features of this product in Column 3 (Product description including key attributes) of the table below are likely to be suitable for:

Investment products and diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold a product as part of a diversified portfolio (for example, with an intended product use of minor allocation). In such circumstances, the product should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, a product with a High risk/return profile may be consistent with the consumer's objectives for that minor allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer as a whole is Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes).

Consumer attributes	TMD indicator	Product description including key attributes
Consumer's investment objective
Capital growth	Not considered in target market	The product's investment objective is to seek to generate a high and consistent level of income in all market conditions over a full market cycle with a secondary objective of downside protection. The product aims to outperform the Bloomberg AusBond Bank Bill index over rolling five year periods, before fees and taxes.
Capital preservation	Not considered in target market
Income distribution	In target market	Investments which have currency risks adopt different currency management strategies. These strategies may include currency hedging, which involves reducing or aiming to reduce the impact of currency movements on the value of the investment. In some circumstances, the frequency or rate of distribution payments may vary when the product employs extensive currency hedging, including the potential for lower distributions.
Consumer's intended product use (as a percentage of Investable Assets)
Solution/standalone (up to 100%)	Not considered in target market	This product offers an investment in a single manager option, investing in a single investment sector, with an asset allocation of 100% in defensive global fixed interest and cash assets. Defensive assets provide relatively stable returns with lower risk of impact from market volatility.

Consumer attributes	TMD indicator	Product description including key attributes
Consumer's risk (ability to bear loss) and return profile
Low	Not considered in target market	Consumers in the target market have a risk (ability to bear loss) and return profile of medium or high.
Medium	In target market	The product is suitable for consumers who are comfortable with the specific risks in relation to the product that are set out in the PDS.
High	In target market	Consumers should be specifically comfortable with the following risks:
Very high	Not considered in target market	Asset-backed securities risk: The principal of asset-backed securities may be prepaid at any time. As a result, if such securities were purchased at a premium, a prepayment rate that is faster than expected will reduce yield to maturity, while a prepayment rate that is slower than expected will have the opposite effect. Conversely, if the securities are purchased at a discount, prepayments faster than expected will increase yield to maturity and prepayments slower than expected will decrease it.
Extremely high	Not considered in target market	Derivatives risk: Derivatives are contracts between two parties that usually derive their value from the price of a physical asset or market index. They can be used to manage certain risks in investment portfolios or as part of an investment strategy. However, they can also increase other risks in a portfolio or expose a portfolio to additional risks. Risks include: the possibility that the derivative position is difficult or costly to reverse; that there is an adverse movement in the asset or index underlying the derivative; or that the parties do not perform their obligations under the contract. Investment in high yielding debt securities risk: Due to the volatile nature of sub-investment grade assets and the corresponding risk of default, there may be significant capital losses and the possibility of fluctuations in the income return level of the Fund. Rated and unrated securities risk: Lower credit quality rated securities would generally be considered to have a higher credit risk and a greater possibility of default than more highly rated securities. If the issuer defaults, or such securities cannot be realised, or perform badly, the Fund and its unitholders may suffer substantial losses.
Consumer's need to access capital
Within one week of request	In target market	Withdrawal requests received on a NSW business day prior to 3pm (Sydney time) will be processed using that day's unit price and in normal circumstances generally paid within seven working days. However, in some circumstances, such as where a product is suspended, restricted or unavailable, we may not process withdrawal requests within the usual period. Further, where a product is not liquid, we cannot allow investors to withdraw from the product unless we make an offer to withdraw. Consumers should read the PDS for more information regarding these circumstances.
